| 24      |  |        | 24      | A. Sure.  |

Pag

A. Yes.

- 2 Q. You just had an opportunity to read
- 3 that document, correct, Mr. Jordan?
- A. Yeah.
- 5 Q. Any statements in that document that
- 6 you do not believe are true and accurate?
- A. No, it's factually correct.
- 8 Q. What position did David Whitman hold
- 9 when you wrote this letter?
- 10 A. Legal counsel to Simonds.
- 11 Q. While you and Mr. Larsen both worked
- 12 at Simonds, did you consider him a friend?
- 13 MS. ELLIOTT: A what?
- 14 Q. A friend.
- 15 A. I'll answer that by saying we had a
- 16 tight-knit group with a lot of camaraderic. I
- 17 didn't see Ron socially, so I'm going to say no.
- 18 Q. You were not part of that group that
- 19 went to lunch together periodically?
- 20 A. Rarely.
- 21 Q. Were you a member of the group that
- 22 went golfing?
- 23 A. No, I don't play golf. Much to the
- 24 detriment of my career.

Page 38

- Q. At the time you wrote this letter, did
- 2 you consider Mr. Alberghini to be a friend?
- 3 A. I would say we had -- I'd say our
- 4 relationship was friendlier than it was with Ron,
- 5 just based on personalities. Again, Lou was
- 6 probably -- not probably -- Lou is less involved
- 7 with the -- with the click than I was. We had --
- 8 we had a good working relationship, but we didn't
- 9 have any social, you know, social time together.
- 10 Q. I want to ask you a few questions
- 11 about some of the statements in this letter. You
- 12 mentioned in the fourth paragraph, the one that
- 13 starts, "the change" --
- 14 A. Yeah.
- 15 Q. -- you mentioned the annual budget
- 16 planning process. Do you see that?
- 17 A. Yes.
- 18 Q. What was the annual budget planning
- 19 process at Simonds while you were there,
- 20 particularly in 1999?
- 21 A. In '99, well, it's always a fairly
- 22 rigorous, formal event whereby all of the
- 23 departments based on the sales forecast prepare
- 24 their operating plans for the upcoming year. The

Page 37

1 financial people look at cost versus sales and

- 2 determine if the proforma profit and loss
- 3 statement is acceptable, and quite typically we
- 4 in manufacturing are asked to go back and see if
- 5 we can trim some costs out of next year's
- 6 budget.
- 7 However, in 1999, the cost reduction
- 8 pressure was extreme because our new management
- 9 team had deemed that one of their goals was to
- 10 have an actual reduction in cost year-over-year
- 11 from 1999 to 2000, and the first budget, despite
- 12 our first pass of the budget, probably provided
- 13 for a two or three percent increase in the
- 14 capital budget, and it was sent back to us saying
- 15 that we needed some reductions; hence, the
- 16 million dollar reduction that needed to come out
- 17 of the operating budget for 2000. So it was
- 18 clearly the most extreme and intense budget
- 19 process that I'd been through in 15 years.
- Q. Is it fair for me to say you were
- 21 actively involved in the entire process?
- 22 A. Yes.
- 23 Q. Who else was involved in that process
- 24 in 1999?

1 A. Oh, Ron Owens, John Kifer, the plant

- 2 controller, plus all the direct reports that were
- 3 feeding me, you know, supporting data, but I
- 3 recume me, you know, supporting data, but I
- 4 would say myself, John Kifer, and Ron Owens were
- 5 the guys that had to, you know, massage it and
- 6 get creative and look for savings.
  - Q. You go on to say in that same
- 8 paragraph, "It became obvious that a significant
- 9 amount of cost reduction needed to be achieved in
- 10 2000." How did that become obvious?
  - A. Because of the stated goal that the
- 12 year 2000 was to have lower cost than the year
- 13 1999. Given that we knew some costs were going
- 14 to go up, you know, labor agreement, wage
- 15 increases, cost of steel, the cost of
- 16 electricity, it meant that we not only had to --
- 17 we had to counteract cost increases with cost
- 18 reductions elsewhere, and with the $30 million
- 19 annual operating budget, looking for a three
- 20 percent reduction, we needed about a million
- 21 dollars of savings.
- Q. Was it ever explained to you why there
- 23 had to be an actual reduction in cost from 1999
- 24 to 2000?

Page 41

- A. It was just one of the cornerstones of
- 2 Ray Martino's management style, that
- 3 year-over-year cost reductions were an important
- 4 part of managing the business.
- 5 Q. How did you go about personally
- 6 identifying over $1 million in annual operating
- 7 expenses that could be eliminated?
- 8 A. We did an account-by-account
- 9 line-by-line charge of accounts analysis.
- 10 Q. When you say "we," who are you
- 11 referring to?
- 12 A. Myself and John Kifer and maybe --
- 13 maybe the foremen involved. Simonds categorizes
- 14 every major type of expense, whether it be a
- 15 perishable tool or lubrication fluids or
- 16 electricity as a line item in the budget, and we
- 17 basically went through the budget with a
- 18 fine-tooth comb looking for outside services or
- 19 cost reductions that we felt we could count on,
- 20 and most importantly, head count to get to the
- 21 million dollars.
- Q. How did you determine which salary
- 23 positions should be eliminated?
- 24 A. That was very -- as I said at the end

- 1 Q. You say in this letter you personally
  - 2 identified over $1 million in annual operating
  - 3 expenses that could be eliminated which included
  - 4 salaried positions, correct?
  - 5 A. Right.
  - Q. And you said concurrently that you and
  - 7 Mr. Owens were envisioning an organization which
  - 8 featured direct communication, accountability and
  - 9 efficiency, correct?
  - 10 A. Yes.
  - Q. You say "we," which refers back to you
  - 12 and Mr. Owens, concluded that an organization in
  - 13 which the frontline supervisors reported directly
  - 14 to the plant manager would accomplish this
  - 15 directive, correct?
  - 16 A. Correct. But I was told who to
  - 17 eliminate by Mr. Martino.
  - 18 Q. In other words, you and Mr. Owens were
  - 19 envisioning this new organization, correct?
  - 20 A. We were envisioning what to do with
  - 21 what was left of the organization.
  - 22 Q. Mr. Jordan, you wrote in this letter,
  - 23 Mr. Owens and I were envisioning an organization
  - 24 which featured direct communication,

- 1 of it -- very painful process, but we ultimately
- 2 came to a decision to eliminate the level of
- 3 management right below the plant manager and
- 4 flatten out the organization and have a foreman
- 5 report to me in those areas where there were
- 6 foremen.
- 7 Q. When you say "we" again, referring to
- 8 Mr. Kifer, Mr. Owens and yourself?
- 9 A. That would have been Mr. Owens and
- 10 Mr. Martino and myself.
- II Q. You go on to say you personally
- 12 identified over $1 million in annual operating
- 13 expenses that could be eliminated which included
- 14 salaried positions, correct?
- 15 A. Right.
- 16 Q. So did you personally identify the
- 17 salaried positions that should be eliminated?
- 18 A. I personally was able to put a cost on
- 19 them once I was told who to eliminate.
- 20 Q. You don't say you were told who to
- 21 eliminate in this?
- 22 A. I'm not sure the letter was really
- 23 about that. The letter was in answer to
- 24 Mr. Larsen's charge.

- 1 accountability and efficiency, correct? That's a
- 2 correct statement?
- 3 A. Yes. But that doesn't say that I was
- 4 responsible for the new organization.
- 5 Q. You then go on to state in your letter
- 6 "We" -- and that we refers to you and Mr. Owens,
- 7 correct?
- 8 A. Right.
- 9 Q. -- "jointly concluded that an
- 10 organization in which the frontline supervisors
- 11 reported directly to the plant manager would
- 12 accomplish this objective," correct?
- 13 A. True.
- 14 Q. You were present at the meetings in
- 15 which Mr. Larsen, Mr. Bourque and Mr. Alberghini
- 16 were terminated, correct?
- 17 A. Yes.
- 18 Q. And during those meetings, you
- 19 explained that the intense budget/cost reduction
- 20 activity resulted in the elimination of salaried
- 21 positions at Fitchburg and elsewhere?
- 22 A. Yes.
- Q. And the reason you told them that was
- 24 because it was true, correct?
